EnSave CEO to Attend Soil and Water Conservation Society Annual Meeting

Richmond, VT, July 10, 2009

EnSave CEO Craig Metz will be attending the Annual Soil and Water Conservation Society Meeting, to be held July 11th through the 15th in Dearborn Michigan.

While in attendance, Mr. Metz will be meeting with other attendees to discuss how EnSave can help them with their conservation work, especially as it applies to the field of agriculture.

“There is tremendous opportunity for conservation on the farm,” said Metz recently. “From reusing coolant water to conservation tillage, the possibilities are as varied as the farming operations. EnSave looks forward to working with the conservation community across the United States to ensure that America’s farmland is around for generations to come.”

EnSave is a Bronze Corporate Member of the Social and Water Conservation Society, and recently had an article published in their journal.

About EnSave:

EnSave supports the American agricultural sector with innovative energy efficiency and resource conservation programs. EnSave provides agricultural producers and food processors with cost effective ways to reduce operating costs while saving energy while conserving our nation’s resources. EnSave’s clients include state and federal energy and environmental agencies, investor-owned utilities, and rural electric cooperatives. EnSave implements its programs by developing relationships with equipment manufacturers, local equipment dealers, and the local agricultural community. Ultimately, these programs promote economic investment in the rural economy and improve the quality of America’s land, air, and water.
